Geopolitical Risk Silver Linings

Dear Friends,

The world continues on a torturous course of systemic risk (war, cyber, climate, pandemics, supply chain, food) disrupting the "normalcy" we all thought we had way back in...February 2020! Not to mention what's happening in global economic markets.

Hidden in all the doom and gloom we should not forget that there's opportunity to make things better - like building or rebuilding resilience, internal and international governance and democracy. The "silver linings", as it were, of these very fraught times.

This month's resources are related to these themes:

- An article for Diplomatic Courier hot off the digital presses "Ukraine War Throws Geopolitical Wrench into Cyber Preparedness" coauthored with friend & colleague, Tomer Saban, CEO/Founder of WireX Systems.
- Sektor 3.0 Festival in Poland being held live and virtually on May 18th focused on "Building Trust" - my mini-keynote/interview is all about how civil society can build organizational resilience and leadership trust in a time of turmoil. Register to watch live starting at 10am CET / 4:00am Eastern here.
- On May 19th, I'm participating in the Horasis Global Meeting panel on "Eradicating/Minimizing Cyber Crime" with several luminaries including my friend & colleague from the Cyber Future Foundation Board, Valmiki Mukherjee.
- On June 2d, I will be part of an esteemed panel at The World Justice Project in the Hague, Netherlands \(and virtually\) discussing "Democracy Dividends of ESG Investing" including friends & colleagues, Michele Crymes of the Center for International Private Enterprise (CIPE) & Klaus Moosmayer of Novartis.

The next issue of this newsletter will be very special when Diplomatic Courier and we launch (at Davos) my new annual edition of The ESGT Megatrends Manual 2022-2023: An Annual Roadmap for Navigating Risk & Opportunity in Tectonic Times featuring brand new twists, data, cases, graphics and prioritization of the five ESGT Megatrends we delved into last year.

Scroll down to the bottom of this issue to see a Sneak Preview of the re-named and re-prioritized ESGT Megatrends and/or go here to download last year's copy.

Until then, I wish you and yours peace, health and resilience.

12:00 Why is it worth having a Plan B? Risk management in times of crises.

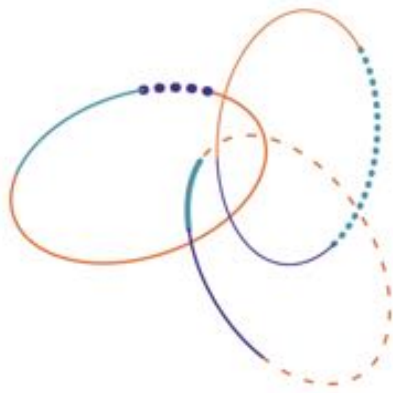

Pandemic, climate change, armed conflicts – we constantly face crises and their consequences. Some of them are sudden and unexpected, others we can predict. However, can you prepare for constant change? We will talk to Dr. Andrea Bonime-Blanc – an expert in strategic management, risk, ethics and cybersecurity for organizations and business about how to build strong social organizations in very dynamic times. During the conversation you will learn:

- why should social organizations analyze the risk?
- what is the role of a leader in building an organization's resilience?
- How to skilfully predict the impact of technological, social and climate changes (ESGT) on the organization's strategy?

The interview will be conducted by Mirella Panek-Owsiańska from the Editorial Board of Sektor 3.0 Blog.

This working session will focus on understanding what it means for private sector companies to comply with ESG standards, and how that compliance can strengthen rule of law and democratic institutions. By convening experts from business, academia, and government, CIPE aims to highlight ways in which the ESG investing, justice and democracy development communities can work together. The working session will also serve to lay out major developments in ESG compliance that are likely in the coming years and that will make the topic increasingly relevant. One of those developments is the fact that European countries requiring corporate human rights and environmental due diligence are a driving force in amplifying the positive impact of ESG compliance in emerging markets throughout the world.

Toward a New Era of Peace and Sustainability

Eradicating or at Least Minimizing Cyber Crime

Digitizing the world's activities has left many processes open to digital tampering. We understood and could visualize the theft of paper or objects, but cybercrime is soundless and rapid, and gateways difficult to block. Further, many nations have secret departments to counter and to promote cyber-crime. Yet leaders ignore the perils. How best to educate leaders about the enormous potential of cybercrime to harm the government, the firm, or individual people? Is there any reason for laws to be made specific to cybercrime, as theft is still theft? What are good practices to counteract cybercrime?
