Unclarity on the Horizon...

(c) Andrea Bonime-Blanc. 2023.

Dear Friends,

Why "Unclarity on the Horizon"? Because facts are a hard thing to argue with. World events, trends, tendencies, all seem somewhat muddy and unclear right now. But more on that soon...

In the meantime, I'm delighted to be back from my first intense trip in a while having truly enjoyed the repartee of several in-person events with old friends and new in Austria, Spain and Switzerland. Some of the highlights of these encounters are below:

- Here's my latest piece titled "Turbocharging Impact Through Governance and Trust" co-written with my good friend, Jay (Jose Javier) Guadalupe, Integrity & ESG Director for Puerto Rico-based Platform for Social Impact (PSI). We describe the governance, ethics and transparency journey of this innovative hybrid impact organization that is singularly focused on eradicating childhood poverty in Puerto Rico. We think it's a model for other parts of the world. See what you think by reading our piece here.

- The piece is part of Diplomatic Courier's Davos 2023 Diplomatic Courier e-book "Davos Dialogue - Restoring a Fragmented World" - I urge you to check it out as it has a series of insightful and important pieces as you can see from the Table of Contents reproduced below.
- At the wonderful World in 2050 Seminar in Salzburg we heard a mix of great "Ted Talk" style shorts - I did one on the future of Democracy and Governance and others did on AI, Crypto, Blockchain, Disinformation, Education and other topics all designed to help us future-proof our challenged world.
- Also, on my 8 days zigzagging through Europe, I had the privilege to participate in the Cyber Future Foundation's 5th Davos Cyber Future Dialogue. We had an amazing line-up of global cyber leaders discussing a wide variety of aspects of cyber security and cyber insecurity.
- Also on cyber, the Wall Street Journal published an excellent piece on the latest trends in cyber governance and I had the opportunity to contribute my take. View the article here.

Until our next encounter, stay healthy, stay well, stay focused!

Ukraine War and Upcoming SEC Rules Push Boards to Sharpen Cyber Oversight

A communications gap between directors and security chiefs hampers corporate governance, experts say

The war, along with the hybrid work models that have been put in place at many companies as a result of the pandemic, prompted corporate directors to carefully consider how their companies might be exposed to cyber risks, said Andrea Bonime-Blanc, chief executive of GEC Risk Advisory LLC, a New York-based firm that advises boards and executives about cybersecurity and risk management.

Board awareness of cybersecurity “was already increasing glacially, but I think the Ukraine war has sharpened the minds,” Ms. Bonime-Blanc said.
