Gratitude in the Age of Tumult

Greetings Friends,

Gratitude. It's one of my favorite words in the whole wide world. And on this Thanksgiving Weekend in the US, despite this age of tumult and, yes, darkness we are living through, there is much to still be grateful for including the unique, endangered and gorgeous life-giving blue planet we call home.

My gift to you in gratitude is a collection of several recent photos I've taken in Central Park documenting the glorious transformation of nature from summer to fall (featured above and more clearly visible on this my Thanksgiving LinkedIn post).

To continue the gratitude theme, I have a lot of shares for you this month:

- Hot off the digital audio presses, my GRIP Podcast with my good friend Ryan McManus in which we discuss "Building Responsible AI Governance that Lasts". Hear it here.
- My latest Article for Illuminem "Biomimetics and the Exponential Governance Mindset" on how the Mindset applies to the field of Biomimetics (which I am becoming immersed in via my service on the Advisory Board of Biomimetics International).
- Two articles for Diplomatic Courier - the first one (for their COP30 series) called "From Global Governance of Nature to Local Governance by Nature" - check it out here.
- The second Diplomatic Courier piece is called "Putting Humanity First Amid Unfettered Tech, Slop, and Surveillance".
- The November 2025 joint Athena Alliance & GEC Risk Advisory "Ripped from the Headlines" Blog on the "Implications of the US Election: Blip, Bump or Turning Point?"

I wish you a great start to the last month of the year - December! And stay tuned for news on my forthcoming book Governing Pandora to be officially launched on 2.2.26 - scroll down to see the final full cover of the book - I am sooo excited to share the book finally with all of you!!

Cheers,

Andrea

We are at a time I dare to coin as the beginning of the fifth industrial revolution or post-industrial revolution. There is so much going on at such speed, with such incredible consequences - and a lot we don't know.
