"It's a "Bird-Eat-Fish" World"

Hello Friends,

It's a "Bird-Eat-Fish" world indeed.

I took the above collage photos on one of my recent walks - showing a gorgeous Great Egret spying, striking, capturing, and swallowing a hapless little fish on the shores of NYC's Central Park Reservoir.

It made me think how the observant, sharp-eyed, meticulous and strategic will frequently win the day. Metaphor for today's world or not, just some food (sorry) for thought...

I have numerous shares this month:

- A column for BizWomen titled "Women in Tech Face Widening Leadership Gap Amid AI Boom" renamed "3 Principles for Leading During a Time of Tech Turbulence".
- A new Diligent AI Governance Video on board pertinent take-aways from Governing Pandora.

Special Request: If you've read Governing Pandora, kindly consider leaving a rating and/or short review on Amazon. Thank you so much!

Stay sharp and clear eyed - like the great Egret!

Onward, upward, forward. 🚀🚀🚀

About

A road map for developing responsible and innovative governance systems based on generative AI and other exponential technologies

As exponential technology rapidly advances, leaders in every sector are faced with the challenge of harnessing its potential power while developing precautionary safeguards against its risks. From generative artificial intelligence to the future of quantum computing, these innovations are transforming the world at an unprecedented rate, leaving decision-makers unsure of how to maintain control and ensure responsible development.

Governing Pandora focuses on multiple exponential technologies in order to demonstrate how leaders can develop responsible and innovative governance systems. This book equips leaders with frameworks and tools—including a detailed five-element "exponential governance mind-set"—to develop a more holistic tech governance approach for current and future waves of exponential tech. Andrea Bonime-Blanc encourages the development of a culture of collaboration across borders, sectors, and disciplines as technology takes on a bigger role in our ecosystem. She explains the context, risks, and opportunities of the ongoing exponential technology revolution so that leaders can futureproof themselves, their organizations, and key stakeholders with strategies and tactics to act responsibly, ethically, and successfully.
